彼は2歳の子どもがいる He has a child who is two years old. 彼は髪が長い子どもがいる He has a child whose hair is long. 彼は私がよく知っている子どもがいる He has a child whom I know well.

彼女は2歳の子どもがいますか 彼女は髪が長い子どもがいますか 彼女はがよく知っている子どもがいますか

Does she have a child who is two years old? Does she have a child whose hair is long? Does she have a child whom I know well?

彼らは2歳の子どもはいない 彼らは髪が長い子どもはいない

They don't have a child who is two years old. They don't have a child whose hair is long. 彼らばがよく知っている子どもはいない They don't have a child whom I know well.

屋根が赤いその家は私のです

丘の上に立っているその家は私のです The house which stands on the hill is mine. The house whose roof is red is mine. あなたが昨日訪れたその家は私のです The house which you visited yesterday is mine.

屋根が赤いその家はあなたのですか あなたか昨日訪れたその家はあなたのですか

丘の上に立っているその家はあなたのですか Is the house which stands on the hill yours? Is the house whose roof is red yours? Is the house which you visited yesterday yours?

丘の上に立っているその家は彼のではない 屋助味いその家は彼女のではない

The house which stands on the hill isn't his The house whose roof is red isn't hers. あなたか昨日訪れたその家は彼らのではない The house which you visited yesterday isn't theirs.